MONTANA'S RACING NOVELTIES.

Today's RACING FORM displays, on the end of the Montana stake advertisement, the condition of Manager Tipton's two new stakes. Both are novelties in their racing lines and each is guaranteed at $1,000. The Ravalli Stakes is scarlet in its anarchy of allowance when compared with the old black and white of racing conditions. There are no penalties to mitigate the liberality of weight gifts to those who have raced and been beaten.

The Yellowstone Handicap is still farther out of the beaten path. It's a handicap for three-year-olds and under, at a mile. There is no record of such conditions ever being launched before.

Yet both events are in line with modern racing implements. They reflect Ed Tipton. He always did break away from the lines—like the man of ideas that he is. He used to "chinook" harnessdom by his race conditions, as secretary of the Kentucky Association. Yet, under Tipton, the Kentucky Association rose from the dead to the first place among harness racing associations, Tipton is evidently injecting his ideas into racing. Explaining the conditions of his new stakes, the Montana manager writes: "Maybe I'm out of line again. I'm apt to make such side trips. Some of them in the old days were erroneous. The fellow is wisest who doesn't make the same mistake twice. Some of my mistakes—before the day of decision—were trumps: some were frosts. The balance was with me and I'm going on. The average encourages me."

Tipton's a brainy fellow. The Montana enterprise shows his nerve and sense. From nothing, it has grown into a two months continuous racing corner, with liberal gifts, palatial establishments and high class surroundings.

Of course Tipton had and has a noble backer—Marcus Daly—a liberal, every day man who loves the sport and hasn't any of the flub-dubism of wealth to stilt his liberality.

There isn't any racing enterprise in America more worthy of support than that of Montana.

THE CASE OF JOCKEY DORSEY.

Here is the report about the case of Jockey Dorsey vs. the License Committee of the Turf Congress from one of the best authorities in Cincinnati. It was specially secured on an order from DAILY RACING FORM and says:

"I regret delay in getting information desired. On receipt of request I searched files of Law Bulletin for one month, only to learn afterward that the decision was oral and not reported. Owing to absence of Judge Buchwalter, who has since retired from the bench, as well as that of counsel, from the city, I was prevented until last Monday morning from taking down from Judge Buchwalter hims lf, the points pleaded, and of confirming them by the attorneys engaged in the case.

Dorsey, a jockey, sued the Committee of the American Turf Congress (Messrs. Rees, Labold and others), for heavy damages ($20,000), for refusing to allow him to ride in races and for threatening to revoke his annual license. He was allowed a temporary restraining order to prevent the committee from carrying out its alleged threat to revoke the license. The suit was filed about the middle of September, 1896. On motion to dissolve the temporary injunction, made by the committee, which was heard January 12, it was satisfactorily shown to Judge Buchwalter, that Dorsey's annual license as a jockey had expired. The right to an injunction to prevent the committee from doing what was manifestly a vain and unnecessary thing no longer existed. Any right of Dorsey to relief in that direction had been lost by expiration of his license. So the temporary restraining order was dissolved. The court intimated that even if the license had not expired, the further fact appearing that the committee had actually revoked the license and excluded Dorsey from the track as a jockey in August, prior to the commencement of his action, he would have dissolved the injunction on that ground alone, because the court could not permit the committee from doing an act which the facts showed it had already done. For this the committee were liable in damages if not justified. The situation therefore is that Dorsey is remanded to his right to damages for what he complains was the unlawful refusal of the committee to permit him the privileges of a jockey during the period of his annual license. This claim is met by the answer of the committee that Dorsey had been guilty of fraud, or in other words, corrupt riding by which the horses he rode were not allowed to win on their merits. This issue is still pending, and testimony is being taken by the committee to establish the defense it has made to his suit.

It will be seen, therefore, that the case has not been decided on its merits, except in so far as the right to an injunction where the act sought to be relieved against has already been done is concerned. Of course, if it is proved that the committee had no just reason to revoke Dorsey's license and refuse him permission to pursue his calling as a jockey, its members will be held responsible in such damages as Dorsey may prove he has suffered. Shay & Cogan are attorneys for Dorsey and Judge Outcult of Outcult & Granger represent the Committee of the Turf Congress."

In a personal letter to the editor of DAILY RACING FORM, Mr. B. J. Johnson, Dorsey's employer, while declaring his thorough belief in Dorsey's innocence, corroborates the points of the above recital of the case. The entire parade shows how cheap and far fetched was the declaration of Broadchurch of The Spirit of the Times for which he quoted the Racing Governors at New Orleans and in which complaint was made that DAILY RACING FORM had misrepresented the Dorsey case in every way.
